

Customized Sampling System

Our customized sampling products are designed and built for various specific requirements. Most of our systems are focused on the petro-chemical industry and power plant.

Our staff have years of experience in designing the sampling systems, and notably, they have been involved and doing the service and maintenance for various sampling systems from small to large and from simple to sophisticated. Therefore, we are not only providing the reliable products to the customer, we also provide them with the strong support services as well. This will ensure the customers that they will get more than a sampling system. They can ensure the up-time of the system as a whole.

We take all small details into account to ensure the compatibility with the designated sample. Moreover, the maintainability and functionality are kept in mind during the layout and design phase.
